

MAT 520 : Educational Technology in the Math Classroom

This course is an overview to many of the uses of technology in the mathematics classroom. In this course you will explore graphics calculators and the Internet, study various mathematics software packages including a computer algebra system, statistics package, Geometer's Sketchpad and Microsoft Office, and learn to critique software lessons and packages.