

MBA 564 : Research Design

This course introduces students to the basic tools of business research. Varied research methods are introduced and evaluated across a wide variety of business needs. Specific attention is paid to the collection, analysis and interpretation of business data from the perspective of design, execution, evaluation and resulting contribution to the research objectives.

Prerequisite Courses

MBA 553

Advising Note

Take MBA-553;