

MBA 667 : Capital Budgeting

This course is designed to assist the student in the evaluation of planning for capital budgeting. Case studies will be used to relate and illustrate factors involved. Present value theory concepts are emphasized. Concepts from areas of finance and managerial accounting are introduced in this presentation of interdisciplinary integration. Additionally, the managerial problems arising from the investment and financing of capital funds are viewed under economic analysis.

Prerequisites

MBA 561 , 574

Advising Note

Take MBA-561 MBA-574;