

OTH 501 : Neuroscience

This course is an integrated approach to the structure and function of the human nervous system. The laboratory/discussion format is devoted to topographical study, clinical problems, concept of the neurobehavioral sciences, the study of sensory systems, the quality of motor responses, and an introduction of neurological assessment. Open only to matriculated OT students.

Credits 4