

PSY 615 : Advanced Assessment

This course is designed as an experiential class with hands-on training. It addresses the techniques related to the administration and scoring of intellectual ability, and neuropsychological assessment through the practice of observation, test administration and scoring of the appropriate psychological assessments. Included are an understanding of test selection rationale, test administration, scoring, and client observation in order to obtain a mastery and skill level to administer and score advanced psychological tests.

Prerequisites

PSY-572 , PSY-575