

SPS 630 : Brain & Behavior in Exercise & Sport

This course will provide students with the study of behavioral neuroscience. Building on foundational knowledge from biopsychology, participants will focus on the relationship of brain functioning and neuroanatomy and examine psychological principles in sport, exercise, physical education, and physical activity.

Credits 3